

Ecolsierra Sierra Nevada De Santa Marta - FLO ID 22057

For blogs click here and here

For images click here and here

The Kogis have been cultivating coffee since the 1970's when they retreated to the Sierra Nevada de Santa Marta trying to escape from their invaders or 'little-brothers'. They found these plants in the lands they were retreating to and saw the value they had and decided to commercialize it. Thanks to this crop they have been using the cash to reclaim lands that were taken away from them.

ID# 6443

Origin	Colombia
Region	Sierra Nevada de Santa Marta
Farm	Various small-holders
Variety	Typica and some Caturra
Altitude	650 - 1800 masl
Proc. Method	Washed and sun dried

Gallery Ecolsierra Sierra Nevada De Santa Marta - FLO ID 22057

