

Gayo - Koperasi Gayo Arabica Mahkota Indonesia - FLO ID 18213

The Gayo Arabika Mahkota Indonesia (GARMINDO) cooperative has about 550 smallholder farmer members, each of whom owns less than 1.5 hectares of farmland, on average. The association was founded by our partner Sakdan, who owns and operates the Bergandal Farm and Mill: He and his brothers were raised in a coffee-producing family and have long been supporters of their fellow farmers. GARMINDO also has a women coffee producers subgroup.

These producers typically do their own wet-milling on their own farms, depulping the cherries and letting them ferment and pre-dry slightly before removing the parchment layer. The cooperative has collaborated with a nearby growers' association that operates its own dry mill, in order to expedite the process. GARMINDO also arranges transportation for farmers in order to facilitate them bringing coffee to be milled while it is fresh.

For more information about coffee production in Sumatra, visit our Sumatra page.

ID# 15127

Origin	Sumatra
Region	Bener Meriah, Aceh, Sumatra
Farm	About 548 smallholder farmers
Variety	Bourbon, Caturra, Catimor, Lini, Tim Tim, Typica
Altitude	1200-1500 masl
Proc. Method	Wet-Hulled

The Cup

" Lemongrass and cocoa with tart citric acidity."

Gallery Gayo - Koperasi Gayo Arabica Mahkota Indonesia - FLO ID 18213

